

Bonne Terre
Consulting

Welcome to Bonne Terre

Introducing “Bonne Terre Consulting” creating sustainability and nurturing change.

Bonne Terre is pronounced “bon-TAIR”
and means “the good soil” or “good earth”
in French and is a play on Terrebonne Parish, a beautiful, but climate change vulnerable parish in the state of Louisiana
and the origin of our founder and lead,
Monica Sanders.

Services

Strategic Planning with ESG and SDGs Integration

We specialize in developing strategic plans tailored to align with Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG) considerations. Collaborating closely with climate tech startups, social impact organizations, NGOs, and corporate leaders, we craft plans that mitigate risks, identify opportunities, and align with your specific mission and ESG goals. From climate and environmental justice policies to disaster risk reduction frameworks integrating technology and equity considerations, we assist in navigating complex landscapes and achieving tangible results.

Partnership Building and Community Engagement

Our expertise lies in connecting organizations with their communities for impactful outcomes. Engaging with social impact organizations, nonprofits, and community-focused entities, we strategize to enhance engagement, foster collaboration, and build trust. By facilitating meaningful participation through strategic partnerships, we leverage collective strengths to achieve common goals within government, community, and organizational spheres.

Capacity Building | Training

We offer specialized workshops and guidance tailored for nonprofits, NGOs, and corporate entities. Catering to leaders and professionals within these sectors, our workshops empower teams with essential knowledge and tools. Engaging with climate-focused nonprofits, NGOs, and leadership in corporations, our initiatives include building capacity around diversity, equity, inclusion, climate advocacy, and compliance. By navigating regulatory landscapes and offering climate and environmental justice strategies, we enable organizations to fulfill their missions effectively.

Thought Leadership

Collaborating with diverse groups and organizations, we offer our services for speaking engagements and government advocacy strategies. Engaging with climate tech startups, nonprofits, and corporate leadership, our collaborations range from keynotes to panel discussions, fostering insights and meaningful discussions across disciplines. Additionally, our expertise extends to developing advocacy strategies for government bodies, contributing to thought leadership initiatives in both executive and legislative arenas.

Monica Sanders

Monica Sanders, a seasoned consultant, ensures Bonne Terre offers a tailored range of services supporting organizations in climate and environmental justice, disaster risk reduction, and community engagement. With expertise in policy, regulatory affairs, disaster response, cybersecurity, and critical infrastructure protection, Professor Sanders is dedicated to advancing clients' goals in these areas.

Her approach, grounded in practical experience and a commitment to social justice, ensures a collaborative, interdisciplinary problem-solving strategy. Monica's consulting services are customized to meet the distinct needs of each client, leveraging her extensive background in disaster resilience, cybersecurity, critical infrastructure protection, and international crisis response.

Mission

At Bonne Terre Consulting, our mission is founded on the principle of creating a more just, sustainable, and technologically equitable world. We recognize the deep interconnections between the climate crisis and the digital divide, especially in how they disproportionately impact impoverished and BIPOC communities.

Our commitment lies in not just addressing these issues in isolation but in understanding and tackling their intersection.
